How do gifts in wills make a difference?

Your legacy could touch thousands of lives across hospitals in your local community

Every year, generous supporters, just like you help us go beyond what NHS funding can provide.

Gifts in wills allow us to invest in cutting-edge equipment to provide better patient treatment and outcomes, and comforting environments that support patients and families through some of life's toughest moments.

Because we're not a national charity - the impact from our community's generosity goes further. A charity without any bells and whistles means your gift goes straight to making a difference to our patients.

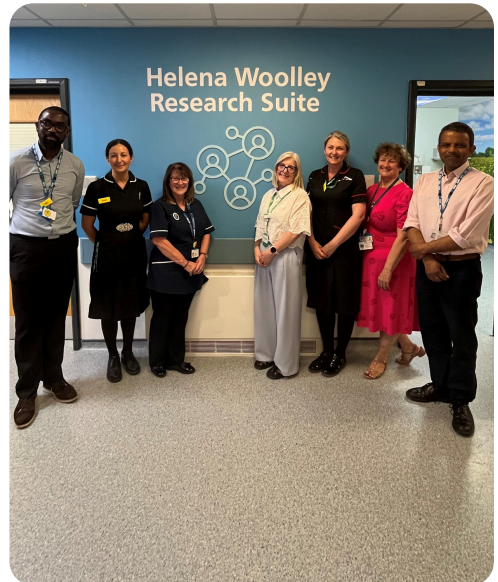

Leaving a gift - no matter the size - is a deeply personal and important decision.

Your decision to leave a gift could shape the future of healthcare in your local community

Real gifts. Real impact...

Helena Woolley Research Suite, Southend Hospital

A larger legacy gift left by Helena Woolley helped establish our first specialist research facility, enabling vital research and offering new hope for cancer patients across Essex and beyond.

Helena's legacy will mean that cancer patients now have access to potentially life saving clinical trials.

Our first Inherited Cardiac Care Nurse, Basildon Hospital

A generous legacy gift funded a specialist nurse role for a one - year pilot, providing targeted, local care to families affected by genetic heart conditions. Charitable funded pilot schemes give a greater chance of NHS funding for the future.

This gift has helped save generations of family members by identifying heart complications before symptoms appear.

After Emma (pictured, centre) experienced issues, her family was tested. Thanks to this funding, a close relative's hereditary condition was discovered early, allowing preventative steps and future planning.

Your legacy will live on in every patient helped, every life changed, and every moment made better

Because some of the most meaningful gifts are made for the future...

Leaving a gift in your will to Mid and South Essex Hospitals Charity is a remarkable act of kindness—one that will help improve care for patients for years to come.

Your pledge to leave a gift tells the people in our community that they are not alone, and that someone cared enough to make their well-being a part of their lasting legacy.

Whether you choose to support a hospital close to your heart, a ward that holds special meaning, or the area of greatest need—you'll be making a powerful difference.

How to leave your own lasting legacy

A decision that changes lives in your local community

After remembering your loved ones, including a gift to a cause close to your heart is a wonderful way to ensure your values live on.

We're incredibly grateful you're thinking of leaving a gift to Mid and South Essex Hospitals Charity.

How to leave a gift

You'll need to speak to a solicitor or will-writing professional to update, or have a new will written.

You can choose exactly where your gift goes

A specific hospital (Basildon, Southend, or Broomfield)

A ward or department that means something to you

The area of greatest need at the time

Whatever you decide, thank you for even considering this remarkable gift. It means the world to us—and to every person whose life your gift will benefit.
